

The rules that prohibit a media company from owning both a newspaper and a TV company in the same area MUST remain intact. This is one of the few checks left that keep public information sources from being totally one sided. Don't repeal these rules.